Small Delays, Big Costs
On multimillion-dollar construction projects, every tiny delay can have a big impact. Each day, billions of dollars of construction work is lost to delays and rework. When projects are delayed, it’s not just the contractor who suffers. Customers, including commercial enterprises and government agencies, can lose 30% or more of their workforce due to the lost time. Delayed projects can also lead to increased costs, higher interest rates, and missed deadlines, which can cause significant financial losses for everyone involved.

Faster Decisions Cut Risk
To address this, HCL, the world leader in IT services, has developed a mobile app for its customers to help them make faster, better decisions. This app provides real-time data and analytics, allowing customers to make informed decisions quickly and effectively. By using this app, customers can avoid delays, reduce costs, and improve project outcomes. The app is available for both iOS and Android devices, making it accessible to everyone who needs it.

Keeping Projects Running Smoothly
HCL Domino, a cloud and mobile-first platform, provides a seamlessstartsWith output: (null) experience for construction projects. With Domino, customers can easily manage their projects, from planning to execution. Domino’s advanced project management tools help customers track progress, control costs, and ensure that projects are completed on time. Whether it’s managing resources, controlling budgets, or monitoring quality, Domino makes it easy to stay on top of every aspect of a project. If you’re looking to streamline your construction projects and make faster, better decisions, HCL Domino is the solution for you.

About the Partner
HCL Technologies, headquartered in Clarksburg, West Virginia, is a leading provider of IT and consulting services. It specializes in helping organizations improve their business outcomes by leveraging its cloud, cybersecurity, and automation capabilities. HCL Technologies is a trusted partner for many of the world’s largest organizations, helping them transform their businesses for the future. If you’re looking for a reliable and experienced partner to help you achieve your business goals, HCL Technologies is the right choice.

To learn more about HCL Domino, please contact your HCL representative or HCL Business Partner, or submit an inquiry.