At Firepro Systems, Health and Safety Are of Paramount Importance

Passed support
Passed licensing
Passed United communications

Challenge
Firepro Systems was looking for a robust collaboration environment platform with a dependable dedicated infrastructure to support its engineering team.

Solution
Firepro Systems evaluated the market with several service providers for a collaboration platform that met its specific needs.

Results
Firepro Systems selected HCL as its preferred solution for collaboration services due to its superior performance. Now, Firepro has a stable and secure environment for its teams to collaborate effectively.

Firepro Systems’ Story

Firepro Systems, a leading provider of advanced optical solutions, was in search of a robust and dependable collaboration environment platform to support its engineering team. The company had observed an increase in the number of projects needing a dedicated infrastructure to handle the collaboration challenges.

Firepro Systems had already worked with HCL in the past on various projects, which gave them confidence in HCL’s capabilities. HCL had demonstrated its ability to handle complex projects and meet the client’s deadline consistently.

Firepro had a strong focus on health and safety, and HCL had established itself as a leader in providing services that ensure a safe and healthy work environment. This was a significant factor in Firepro’s decision to choose HCL.

Firepro Systems had prior experience with HCL, and they trusted the quality of the services provided by the company. They were confident that HCL could deliver an environment that met their standards, ensuring that their teams could collaborate effectively without any disruptions.

Firepro Systems and HCL had a long history of working together, and this relationship had been beneficial to both parties. HCL had successfully delivered projects on time and within budget, and Firepro Systems had been satisfied with the outcomes.

In order to ensure that their workforce remained healthy and productive, Firepro Systems wanted a collaboration platform that was reliable and secure. They conducted a thorough evaluation with several service providers, considering factors such as cost, quality, and reputation.

Firepro Systems was pleased with the outcomes and decided to choose HCL as their collaboration service provider. They were confident that HCL could deliver an environment that met their standards, ensuring that their teams could collaborate effectively without any disruptions.

Peth to Successful Collaboration

The decision to choose a trustworthy partner was crucial for Firepro Systems. They evaluated several options, considering factors such as cost, quality, and reputation. Firepro Systems had prior experience with HCL, and they trusted the quality of the services provided by the company.

Firepro Systems and HCL had a long history of working together, and this relationship had been beneficial to both parties. HCL had successfully delivered projects on time and within budget, and Firepro Systems had been satisfied with the outcomes.

The decision to choose HCL was driven by their reputation for providing reliable and secure collaboration environments. They were confident that HCL could deliver an environment that met their standards, ensuring that their teams could collaborate effectively without any disruptions.

Lower Cost with Fast Support

At the First Portfolio Manager, HCL has presence and expansion capability across the United States and Canada. The Office of the First Portfolio Manager aims to enhance the collaboration environment and support the teams by delivering fast and reliable services. Our portfolio includes various services such as Health and Safety, Workforce Management, and Workforce Optimization.

About the company

HCL Technologies, an IT services, consulting, and outsourcing company, provides a wide range of services, including software and systems integration, consulting, and outsourcing services.

About the business partner

HCL Technologies is a technology partner with Firepro Systems. Our services include software development, consulting, and outsourcing solutions.

To learn more about the HCL Domino and Sametime platforms, please contact your HCL representative or HCL Business Partner and schedule a demo.